

Around Again

by The Tonk Honkys © 2013

You say that you needed a place
To get your mind cleared out and keep your demons away
And if I told you that for me nothing's changed
Would you tell me lies and say it's all the same
Would you come calling for me to hold you in the night
I could grab hold and won't let go 'til you see the morning light
When it's over we can stop pretending until when you come around again

'Til you come around again (x3)
'Til you come around

When headlights pass I see your face in glances
Just got lost in the memories of our broken second chances
We always say next time will be the last
Try to turn the page on our history but we just repeat our past
So tonight I'm gonna take the long way home
'Cause you're in my heart and in my head and I don't want to be alone
When it's over we can stop pretending until when you come around again

You say that you needed a place
To get your mind cleared out and keep your demons away
And if I told you that for me nothing's changed
Would you tell me lies and say it's all the same
I'll be around again
