

Nada Care

by The Tonk Honkys © 2013

What we do and say are two different things
Sometimes it's hard to know what either one of us means There's just so many lines to read in between
And what about all the lines that we can't even see

All that really matters is this life that we share
We don't need to worry or be in a hurry,
Just live and love without a care... nada care

In the heat of the moment things are always tense
Why do we think we're the only ones making sense
We don't always have to see things the same way
So let's agree to let it be at the end of the day

All that really matters is this life that we share
We don't need to worry or be in a hurry,
Just live and love without a care... nada care

I've been looking around and adding everything up
It seems the more we gain, the more we give up
Instead of giving deceit let's give each other support
We'll all feel more complete when we cut out all this back & forth...
That's for sure

All that really matters is this life that we share
We don't need to worry or be in a hurry,
Just live and love without a care... nada care